Course Descriptions

Undergraduate

BIE 625 – Bioethics

This interdisciplinary course prepares students for pastoral service through an intensive review of the teachings of the Catholic Church regarding the sanctity and dignity of human life from the moment of conception until natural death. Topics include the most challenging and difficult moral and medical issues in the field of contemporary bioethics.

HIS 102 – Western Civilization II

This course continues the study of Western Civilization: the Hundred Years' War as nations fought to restore a united Christendom, the Enlightenment, the revolutions in France and America, the Napoleonic Age, the two world wars, Vatican II, and into the present day.

HIS 201 – American History

This course will provide an introduction to the experiment in democracy known as the United States of America. As a survey course, it will focus on periods in American history: the colonial period, the revolution, the early republic, the Civil War, the Gilded Age, and the modern period.

HUM 104 – Humanities in the Early Christian and Medieval World

In this course the emergence and spread of Christianity are viewed as primary cultural phenomena from the time of Christ until the late middle ages. The student is introduced to the major branches of the humanities--for example, the literature, philosophy, arts and architecture as they continue to develop among the civilized peoples of Europe, Asia, and Northern Africa with some emphasis on the culture of Western Europe. An examination of representative ideas and themes, selected texts, and cultural institutions and artifacts provides the data for a cultural overview of the period.

LAT 202 – Latin II

This course builds on Latin I and familiarizes the student with the majority of Latin grammar and a significant amount of the theological and philosophical Latin vocabulary. It is the second of three courses designed to give the student the skills to read modern ecclesiastical Latin.

LLT 300 – Introduction to Liturgy

This course explains that all theology is derived from the sacred Liturgy, the heart of Catholic faith and life. It will look at Liturgy as the starting point and the greatest teacher, opening to the mysteries of the Catholic faith.

MTH 300 – Introduction to Moral Theology

This course introduces the foundational concepts of Catholic moral theology, and seeks to provide a mastery of the questions: What is moral theology? What are its underlying precepts? How can we use these to help ourselves and others lead a moral life?

PAS 162 – Catechism II

This course presents an overview of the Catechism of the Catholic Church. Students study parts three and four of the Catechism, "Life in Christ" and "Christian Prayer," to grasp its presentation of truth in the light of Vatican Council II.

PHE 422 – Christian Social Ethics

This course is an application of basic Christian principles to the political, economic and social spheres. It includes analysis of questions of wealth and poverty, cultural development, war and peace, and Christian involvement in government.

PHH 304 – History of Medieval Philosophy

This course studies the most representative thinkers, beginning with St. Augustine and Boethius and ending with St. Albert the Great, St. Bonaventure, and St. Thomas Aquinas.

PHH 401 – History of Modern Philosophy

This course examines the classical modern philosophers beginning with Descartes, Spinoza, Hobbes, and ending with the 19th century idealist Hegel.

PHH 404 – History of Contemporary Philosophy

This course examines the views of various contemporary philosophers on issues in ethics, epistemology, metaphysics, and other areas of philosophy.

PHS 414 – Epistemology

This course gives an insight into classical answers to Aristotelian, Socratic, and Platonic questions and give students the tools to devise their own responses.

PHS 415 – Philosophy of God

Natural Theology, the highest of the sciences, is the reasoned, philosophical study of the existence of God and His attributes. In this course, we will begin by exploring various types of atheism and then move on to the study of St. Thomas' famous Five Ways for proving God's existence. Next we will learn about the various Divine Attributes which one can discover by reason alone, and finally, students will demonstrate their understanding of the topics covered in this course by developing a presentation on a book relating to theism and the challenges of atheism.

PSY 200 – Psychology

This course studies foundational questions about psychology. We will ask: what kind of discipline is psychology? What is the content of the study of psychology - mind, will, soul, behavior, character? What is the purpose of the study of psychology? What is the relation of psychology to science, philosophy, and religion? We will examine areas in psychology such as behavioral and cognitive approaches, emotion, development, psychoanalytic and humanistic approaches, and personality. Assessment and cultural diversity will be studied throughout the areas. No prerequisites necessary.

SAS 471 – Letters of St. Paul

This course studies the life and mission of St. Paul. It will also examine the composition, structure, purpose, historical background and theological themes of the Pauline letters with special concentration on Galatians, I Corinthians, Philippians, and Romans.

SCM 105 – Nature of MathSCM 301 – Anatomy and Physiology I

This course presents a systemic approach to the study of the human body. Lecture topics include an introduction of anatomical terminology and an overview of cellular processes and tissue classification. Students then learn the gross and microscopic anatomy of the following systems: integumentary, skeletal, and muscular system.

SOC 103 – Sociology

This course surveys the methods of sociology and their application to contemporary society.

Graduate

BIE 625 – Bioethics

This interdisciplinary course prepares students for pastoral service through an intensive review of the teachings of the Catholic Church regarding the sanctity and dignity of human life from the moment of conception until natural death. Topics include the most challenging and difficult moral and medical issues in the field of contemporary bioethics.

BIE 651 – Issues in Medical Ethics

This course begins with the background out of which the Catholic Medical Ethics grew, and then explores the modern situation and its failure will be described and the contemporaneous need for the religious traditions to exercise their appropriate influence will be affirmed.

CHH 708 – Church History

This course includes topics such as the Western Schism, Renaissance, the Reformation and the Council of Trent, Jansenism, the Enlightenment, French Revolution, the First and Second Vatican Councils, and the twentieth century 'isms.'

CHH 881 – Patristics

This course surveys selected writings from the principal Fathers of the Church. The focus is on the development of Catholic Doctrine from the Apostolic Fathers to St. Gregory the Great, with emphasis on the Trinitarian and Christological questions.

CHH/DTH 671 – Documents of Vatican II

This course introduces the history of Vatican II and the content of the documents. Topics include the background of the Council, the nature of the Church, inner spiritual renewal, the Church and the world, and the effects of the Council. Can also be used for credit as DTH 671.

CLA 715 – Canon Law II

This course includes a thorough study of the canon law of marriage.

DTH 642 – John Paul II: Life, Spirituality, and Philosophy

This course will sketch the life, spirituality, and philosophy of Saint John Paul II, as foundational to his teaching and mission as Pope. The course will survey Saint John Paul II's own poetry, plays, and philosophical works, as well as biographical and autobiographical writings.

DTH 751 – Christology

This course considers the person of Jesus Christ and the theology of the Incarnation, with particular attention to the development of Christological doctrine and to the theology of Thomas Aquinas. One & Triune God is a pre-requisite to this course.

DTH 760 – Ecclesiology and Ecumenism

This course investigates the nature and characteristics of the Church, its attributes, its structures, its mission and its relation to the world, and the development of Catholic thought concerning ecumenical and inter-religious dialogue.

PHS 508 – Compendium of Scholastic Philosophy II

A continuation of PHS 507. Pre-requisite: PHS 507.

PHS 631 – Philosophy of Personalism II

Studies in the vast literature of this philosophical movement using different readings from Personalism I, and designed to supplement that course, though it can be taken independently. We will explore theologically relevant contributions of Soren Kierkegaard, John Macmurray, St. John-Paul II, and Jacques Maritain.

SAS 631 – Wisdom Literature

This course views sapiential literature (Job, Proverbs, Sirach, Qohelet, Psalms and Song of Songs) as an expression of Israel's spirituality both at the time of its writing and today.

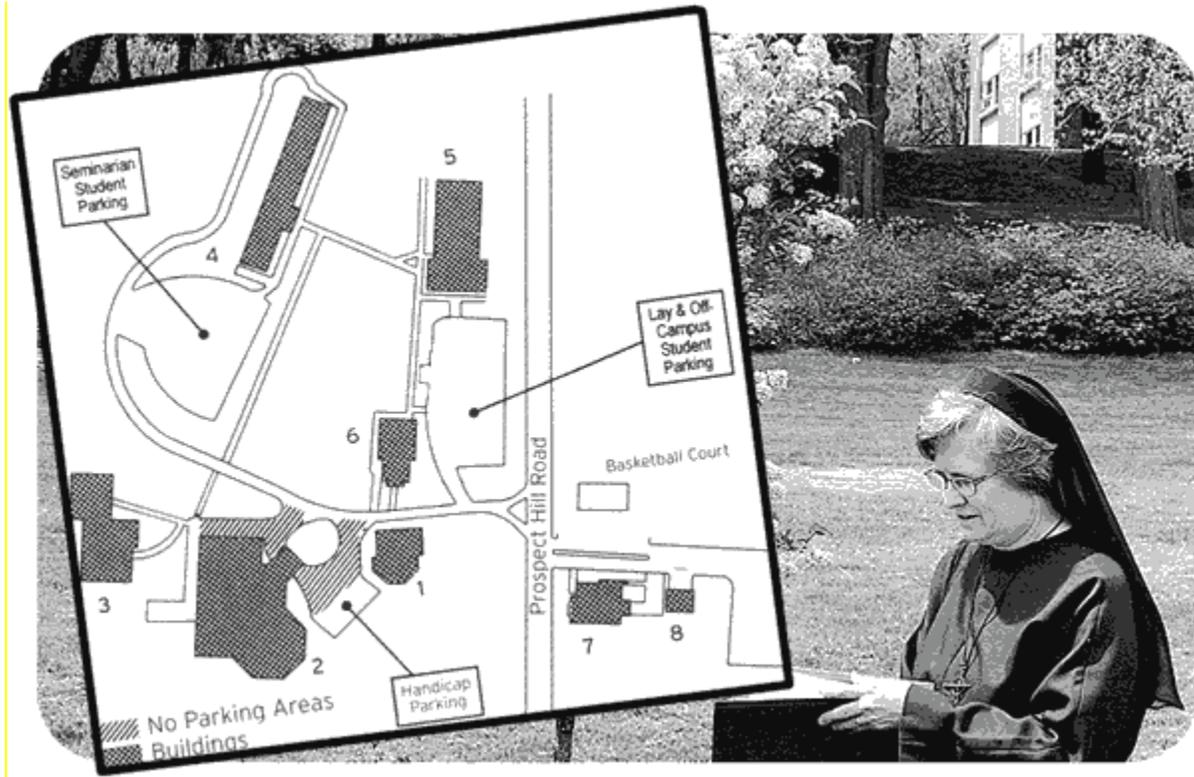

SAS 671 – Letters of St. Paul

This course studies the life and mission of St. Paul. It will also examine the composition, structure, purpose, historical background and theological themes of the Pauline letters with special concentration on Galatians, I Corinthians, Philippians, and Romans.
