Course Descriptions
Undergraduate

CHH 300 – Church History
This course examines the history of the Catholic Church as a point of evangelization. Topics to be examined will include development of the early Church, the Age of the Fathers, the Dark Ages, the Middle Ages, the Reformation period, and the Modern Era.

ENG 131 – Poetry
This course introduces students to classics in poetry, and focuses on close-reading and interpretative skills of representative authors. Particular attention is given to the lyric tradition with Wordsworth, Keats, Tennyson, C. Rossetti, Dickinson and Hopkins.

ENG 171 – Composition and Rhetoric
This course utilizes the reading and writing of essays to learn syllogistic/logical strategy, critical thinking and writing, fallacious argumentation, persuasive writing and speaking skills, and examines the use of metaphor and symbolism in descriptions of the experience of God.

ENG 221 – Novels, Short Stories and Literary Research
This course examines classic and modern novels and short stories of authors such as Charlotte Bronte, Marilynne Robinson, George Bernanos, Flannery O'Connor, and Joseph Conrad. The students write a paper on the literature with guidance through the research and drafting.

HUM 103 – Humanities in the Ancient World
This course is an introduction to the origin and development of the humanities, with an emphasis in the classical world. These branches of learning concerned with human thought and relations are distinguished from the sciences.

LAT 201 – Latin I
This course is designed to introduces the student to the basics of Latin, with the aim of enabling the student to approach medieval and modern ecclesiastical Latin texts. It is the first of three courses designed to give the student the skills to read modern ecclesiastical Latin.

LLT 581 – Liturgical Music
LLT 590 – Gregorian Chant

PAS 161 - Catechism Pillars I & II
This course presents an overview of the Catechism of the Catholic Church. Students study the first two parts, “The Profession of Faith” and “The Celebration of the Christian Mystery” to grasp its presentation of truth in the light of Vatican Council II.

PHE 501 – Ethics
This course studies the principles of ethics from a Thomistic and phenomenological perspective including criteria for making moral choices and a refutation of situation ethics, and addresses social justice, abortion, war and peace and sexual ethics. This course can be taken for undergraduate or graduate credit.

PHH 301 – History of Ancient Philosophy
This course studies the most representative thinkers of ancient philosophy, beginning with Plato, Socrates and Aristotle and ending with St. Augustine and Boethius.

PHS 311 – Logic
This course introduces the basic structures of sound thinking, analytic reading, and the evaluation of arguments, the latter through practice in Aristotelian logic and examination of the three acts of the mind in Aristotelian-Thomistic philosophy.
PHS 414 – Epistemology
This course gives an insight into classical answers to Aristotelian, Socratic, and Platonic questions and give students the tools to devise their own responses.

PHS 507 – Compendium of Scholastic Philosophy I
This course provides a philosophical survey of Scholastic Philosophy, especially the Aristotelian-Thomistic approach to main philosophical questions.

PHS 551 – Philosophy of Man
This course studies human nature from the perspective of the perennial tradition of Catholic philosophy, as well as that of Catholic phenomenological and existential insights.

SCM 101 – Mathematics Among the Liberal Arts
By learning game theory and other mathematical topics including geometry, trigonometry, algebra, and probability, this course will allow the student to develop a creative mind that possesses critical, qualitative and quantitative thinking skills. Students will explore mathematics through games, which will allow them to learn key concepts organically without trepidation.

SOC 253 – Introduction to Political Science
The course surveys ideas in the study of government and politics, examines the perennial questions in political life (Who should rule? and Is it good to have power? and Do truth and right change in the course of history?), and explores the various fields of political science.

Graduate

CLA 601 – Canon Law I
The course introduces students to ecclesiastical law through a systematic presentation and study of the 1983 Code of Canon Law, reflecting on the purpose, nature, content, history, background, and consequences of what ecclesiastical law achieves in the life of the Church.

DTH 601 – Revelation, Faith and Grace
This course focuses on God’s call to man (supernatural revelation, the nature of theology as science; Scripture, Tradition and Magisterium), man’s response in faith (the natural desire to see God; the states of human nature; the Old and New Law), and the role of grace (its necessity, character and effects as perfecting human nature).

DTH 650 – Sacraments of Initiation and Pneumatology

DTH 731 – One and Triune God
This course studies God, One and Three. It considers the divine nature and the trinity of persons in God, attending particularly to the theology of St. Augustine, of St. Thomas Aquinas, and of the contemporary Church.

DTH 766 – Mary, Mother of God & Mother of the Church
In this course, we will study how Marian theology has developed in time. This historical approach to Marian Theology will be supplemented with careful study of Fr. Reginald Garrigou-Lagrange’s classical text on Mary, Mother of the Savior: And Our Interior Life.

DTH 910 – Spiritual Theology
This course is a systematic study of Christian holiness based on Sacred Scripture and classical writers considering the virtues and gifts of the Holy Spirit, prayer, spiritual direction, and the stages of the life of grace.

LLT 581 – Liturgical Music

LLT 590 – Gregorian Chant

LLT 653 – Liturgical Theology
This course demonstrates how the Liturgy is the source and summit of the Christian Life as found in Sacrosanctum Concilium, 10. It will examine liturgical theology especially in terms of its theological and spiritual aspects, while integrating pastoral and canonical applications.

MTH 611 – Fundamental Moral Theology I
This course presents fundamental moral principles from the perspective of classical and contemporary moralists. Primary questions include the end of man, human acts, moral determinants, freedom, sin, moral responsibility, conscience, conversion, divine love.

MTH 612 – Fundamental Moral Theology II
This course provides a balanced foundation for the personal and pastoral practice of virtue within the context of the moral law. Students examine in detail the practice of each of the virtues in their proper application to the commandments.

MTH 681 – Theology of the Body: Sexual Difference & Complementarity

MTH 841 – Catholic Social Teaching
This course traces major themes in Catholic social teachings by using the U.S. Bishop’s document, Sharing Catholic Social Teaching: Challenges and Directions and includes topics therein.

PAS 668 – Catechetics
This course will consider evangelization, new evangelization and catechesis as “a remarkable moment in the whole process of evangelization” (John Paul II, Catechesi Tradendae) based on the mission of her Founder, “Go, teach . . .” (Matthew 28: 19).

PHE 501 – Ethics
This course studies the principles of ethics from a Thomistic and phenomenological perspective including criteria for making moral choices and a refutation of situation ethics, and addresses social justice, abortion, war and peace and sexual ethics. This course can be taken for undergraduate or graduate credit.

PHS 507 – Compendium of Scholastic Philosophy I
This course provides a philosophical survey of Scholastic Philosophy, especially the Aristotelian-Thomistic approach to main philosophical questions.
